Boulder Swing Dance

Boulder Swing Dance is a group dedicated to building the world of social dancing in Colorado. They specialize in swing era dances such as Lindy, Hop, Charleston, Balboa, Shim Sham and the Big Apple. BSD is committed not only to preservation, but to finding new ways to teach and dance that still capture the energy, joy and aesthetic of these American original social dances. Currently, they teach 5 classes per week in various dances with four different levels, primarily focusing on Lindy Hop.

The members of Boulder Swing Dance have all been dancing more than a decade with many competition titles between them. Their greatest pleasure is helping people to be the best social dancers they can and providing a welcoming place for them to do it. All ages are welcome and dances regularly have a mix of ages from teens through 60s, 70s and beyond!

Swing dancing came into its heyday in the 30s and 40s in Harlem, New York. The dancing was an expression of the swinging jazz music that was being played in a lot of big ballrooms (like the Savoy). The Lindy Hop evolved directly out of the Charleston, with dancers loosening up the basic Charleston moves and patterns and eventually having partners “breaking away” from each other (called a swing out). Dance troupes out of Harlem traveled the globe, making Lindy Hop popular all over the world. To this day, Lindy Hop can be seen and danced at most major cities on the planet.

At the same time the Lindy Hop was evolving on the East coast, another swing dance, the Balboa, was coming into its own on the West coast. With completely packed ballrooms playing swing music, dancers took more of an upright closed embrace position that took less space on the floor. All of the cool moves were done from the knees down, with fancy footwork and subtle weight changes.

Swing Dances Lessons: Monday and Tuesday nights at 7pm with a new series starting every month. They are held at Kakes Studio A, 2115 Pearl Street behind the futon store. Check the website for time changes or cancellations.

Swing Dances: 1st and 3rd Saturdays of every month, lesson at 7pm and dance at 8:30pm. They are held at Pearl Street Studio, 2126 Pearl Street behind Snarf’s. Check the website for time changes or cancellations.

In 1988, the intrepid Planina Balkan Women’s Choir first performed songs of Eastern Europe for a Slavic Festival in Boulder. Since then, some 50 members have come through Planina’s doors - some for short periods and some for many years. Planina became a mixed chorus in 1999 and has released 2 CDs and a cookbook, studied with some stellar vocalists and instrumentalists from Eastern Europe, made two group trips to Bulgaria, and collaborated with many local artists. For this special concert, Planina welcomes back several former members to raise their voices with us in celebration of this thrilling music. Don’t miss it!
